

Global Assets Integrated is a leading provider of counter-terrorism, tactical breacher training, EOD, and security solutions for US Law Enforcement, Government, and Military agencies and personnel. We rely on our staff's diverse real-life experience and expertise to develop and provide effective, practical, and innovative security solutions and tactical training programs currently in operational use throughout the United States and abroad.

Global Assets is comprised of two divisions. Global Assets Integrated, formally Global Assets TAC Group, handles all counter- and anti-terrorism, bomb tech, tactical, and security training and consulting. Forced Entry Tactical Training (FETT USA), provides all explosive and tactical breaching training and related services.

To ensure proper and reliable support for its services, Global Assets offers an online equipment and gear shop. While operational for over 10 years, the online store has primarily supported FETT USA tactical breaching training services. In recent years it has been expanded to include bomb tech and EOD equipment, various counter-terrorism related gear, and general tactical equipment.

Since its establishment in 2005, Global Assets has grown into a complete service company capable of overseeing and managing projects throughout all phases of development and implementation. From initial assessments and planning, through tactical training and acquisition of equipment, to operational deployment, Global Assets' unique structure and diverse capabilities provide its clients with a simple and reliable source for achieving their intended objectives.

Experience you can trust:

Years of service provided to countless government agencies have established Global Assets' reputation as a company which provides real solutions based on successful, real-world, operational experience, relevant to the environments in which our clients operate. As active and retired members of the law enforcement and military special operations and intelligence communities, our staff's diverse multi-national experience assures our ability to provide a wide range of services tailored to fit our clients' needs.
