

Bio: Anthony Stanford

Anthony and his wife Felicia have resided in Aurora for 23 years. They have three children.

Stanford is a columnist and author. After a 40-year career with the federal government that included 35 years at the Department of Housing and Urban Development, he retired in October 2014. At HUD he was the recipient of numerous awards including the prestigious Inspector General Award for the disclosure of fraud, waste, and mismanagement.

Stanford is the author of three books the latest, Copping Out: The Consequences of Police Corruption and Misconduct.

In 2007 he was appointed by Mayor Tom Wesiner to serve of the Aurora Public Library Board.

In 2014 he was the recipient of the 2014 Outstanding African American Leadership Award awarded by the City of Aurora.