To Whom it May Concern:

CDS is pleased to submit the attached quote, Document 447436, to the City of Aurora for Panasonic Toughbook CF-54 semi-rugged computers and accessories for use by the Aurora Police Department. CDS is the State of Illinois Master Contract holder for Panasonic Toughbooks and related accessories, under contract CMS5848520 signed by the state on December 12, 2014. The contract will last from three to not more than ten years, pending renewals (Contract, Section 3.1)

Although the CF-54 was announced and released after contract CMS5848520 was signed, and so does not appear by name in the contract, CDS and Panasonic are continuing to provide State Contract level pricing for these devices. This is in keeping with the stated goal of the Department of Central Management Services (CMS) in establishing the contract to, "provide a purchasing mechanism for public safety entities throughout the state of Illinois for mobile data components" including, "Panasonic Toughbook laptops with the most up-to-date technologies" (Section 1.1). In the rapidly changing landscape of mobile computing, the CF-54 represents the most up-to-date semi-rugged Panasonic Toughbook laptop technology available.

The pricing provided to the City of Aurora for the CF-54 and its related accessories is at or below State Contract level for a comparably equipped CF-53, the semi-rugged Panasonic Toughbook on the contract which the CF-54 will ultimately replace. CDS looks forward to working with the City of Aurora on this project and going forward to provide the best available technology and service.

Sincerely,

Mark Gottlieb
