Earle Robertson is a Chicago native faithfully served public servant of the aviation community for over 37 years of federal service as an Air Traffic Controller. Mr Robertson served and retired after 20 years in the United States Air Force working as an Air Traffic Controller and Manager. He served for several ATC facilities in the U.S and abroad ( Turkey). The remainder of his federal service ( 17 years to date ) has been served as an Air Traffic Control Specialist at Chicago ARTCC in Aurora where he is now serving as a supervisor of operations. Mr. Robertson began his career with the FAA in the fall of 1998 at Chicago (ZAU).

Mr. Robertson has provided outstanding air traffic control service to the flying public representing the FAA in an extremely positive fashion. He contributed immeasurably in helping the facility meet its objectives in many ways as a controller and supervisor in the West Area of specialization. Mr Robertson also served as the facilities top Supervisory Traffic Management Supervisor helping to balance air traffic demand with system capacity to aviation flying into and out of the entire Midwest, as well as, the nations busiest airport ( O'hare ) and Midway. Mr. Robertson provided outstanding OJT instructor training support to the success of many certified controllers at Chicago Center today. He has served to bridge the gap between management and the workforce and has contributed superior support toward the success of many of the facility's modernization goals and objectives. Throughout his career, Mr. Robertson has been highly regarded as one the facility's top Air Traffic Controllers. He is credited with receiving numerous performance/incentive awards for meritorious ATC service.

Mr Robertson has lived in the Aurora community since 1999 in the fifth ward and is married to his wife Tanya. Together they have six sons and one daughter.
